FAUX FLUIDES

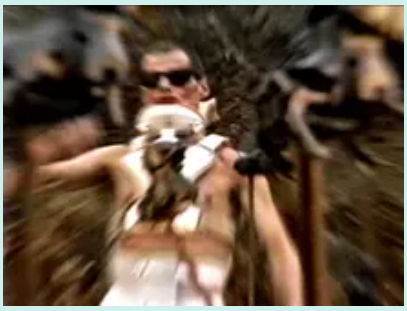

DIRECTOR
Alain Pelletier

DURATION
10:47

YEAR
1993

ORIGINAL LANGUAGE
French

CATEGORY
Video Art

DESCRIPTION
Faux fluides is a eclectic story of the quest for one's identity. Through a collage of texts by Antonin Artaud and Samuel Beckett, this video cynically pursues and dismantles the Freudian theory of self. "There is a reserve of fluids somewhere in me which releases false liquids, believing to have modelled for me an eternal, internal body. It is, however, non-fluid beings who have assembled them, in order to dip into them."

SOUND
Mono
Stereo

KEYWORDS
Text, Psychology, Body, Environment, Self, Identity, Universe

THEMES
Art and culture
Identity
Psychology