DESCRIPTION

A group of teenagers meets at a friend's house. They plan on attending a rock concert held near-by. While waiting for another friend to join them, a discussion on job-hunting ensues. This video seeks to illustrate the basics of job-hunting. It does not intend to be another dry documentary, restating what is already said through educational brochures and films on unemployment made for adults. Instead, it is a fictional documetary adapted to the real needs of youth.
