DESCRIPTION
Mr. Desmond Tutu, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, visited Montreal in June of 1986 as part of a North American tour to raise awareness of apartheid. This documentary, accompanied by archival footage, delivers the powerful call of Mr. Tutu in regard to the liberation of South Africans and human dignity. A moving testimony on the irrationality of apartheid, the horror of institutionalized racism in South Africa and the urgent need to act for the respect and human rights of all people.
