CLINKER

DIRECTOR
Eric Gaucher

DURATION
6:23

YEAR
2014

ORIGINAL LANGUAGE
No dialogue

CATEGORY
Experimental

DESCRIPTION
Clinker is a single channel experimental video that joins two notions. The first embraces one of the few definitions of the word clinker, which is to play a wrong musical note. Consequently, the audio composition is intentionally fractured and generated with mistakes. Secondly, the video loosely borrows visual inspiration from the Italian poet Lucretius' poem The Nature of Things. More specifically, book two entitled The Dance of Atoms. As a result, the joined notions explore a relationship through a lyrical yet abstract synthesis.

IMAGE FORMAT
2.35:1

SOUND
Stereo

SHOOTING FORMAT
HD

FURTHER INFORMATION

See also: Eric Gaucher - Interview

KEYWORDS
Movement, Image, Sound

THEMES
Art and culture