

EXTENDERIS

DIRECTOR

Esther Valiquette

DURATION

0:10

YEAR

1993

ORIGINAL LANGUAGE

French (on-screen text)

CATEGORY

Video Art

DESCRIPTION

Constructed as a contemporary psalm, this experimental video reflects on the origins of life and the vast archival content of DNA. Extenderis revolves around the ideas of Richard Dawkins (The Blind Watchmaker, 1987), according to whom human beings, as well as all living organisms, are the temporary receptacles of the DNA code. We serve the DNA and not the reverse. A shock to anthropocentric understanding, the idea was considered as heresy within the scientific community. In this sense, Extenderis is a heretic psalm.

SOUND

Stereo

KEYWORDS

Humanity, Philosophy, Origin, Genetics

THEMES

Identity
Science
Society