DESCRIPTION
This video shows the problems of the homeless of Honduras due to the urbanisation of its capital and the underdevelopment of rural areas. It explores the housing problem, the socio-economic characteristics of the homeless and the need to find different approaches and solutions. To do so, this video covers a project directed by the United Nations in the south of the country. It's an inspiring project offering a human experience... It is interesting to note that 1987 was the International Year for Housing the Homeless.
