DESCRIPTION
An exposition on the problem of restricting freedom of speech in the face of capitalist repression which, according to the authors, increases during times of crisis. Based on a struggle against censorship at the Cégep Montmorency, the document illustrates the mounting repression that could develop into fascism. The video narrates the story of the students' fight against the ban on selling Marxist literature and compares it to similar events at other Cégeps. It also exposes censorship at the municipal, provincial and federal level, and comments on its role in capitalist society.
